With this greeting goes the prayer that the Head of the Church may have his way with all the members of the Conference from the first moment of the session until its close. And, my brethren, let me ask that you pray for me—pray that the grace of God may be with me to the end. My bodily strength is small. The peace of God fills my soul. ## SUPPLEMENT.—REPORTS ADOPTED.

TEMPERANCE.

For years the Methodist Church has waged relentless warfare against the liquor traffic. No compromise between the Church and the traffic has been possible. It has been a righteous war of extermination. Under the influence of this and other Churches and in answer to the prayers of Christian men and women, the crusade has resulted in the complete outlawry of the liquor traffic in Tennessee. There is no longer a legal partnership existing between the State and this blighting curse.

But if prohibition laws are to be effective and prove what they are designed to be—a protection to society and a bulwark of our Christian civilization—they must be enforced. We believe that wherever they have been enforced they have proven a blessing to our people, a protection to our homes, and a means of promoting the kingdom of God in this world.

Having won the first great contest with the allied forces of evil and secured the legal outlawry of the liquor traffic, the Church must move on to the next battle—that for the enforcement of the laws. Official connivance at law violation is not to be tolerated among self-respecting people, for disrespect for the laws must inevitably lead to anarchy. There can be no compromise upon this question, for it threatens the very foundations of government. If the laws are not enforced, the peace and happiness of the people are threatened and the security of human life and the protection of property are menaced.

The Methodist Church, through its highest legislative authority, stands committed to the wisdom and righteousness of prohibition laws. The Church has borne an honorable part in the crusade which resulted in the enactment of our legislation on this subject, and it must encourage and foster the enforcement of the laws. These laws cannot be enforced unless executive officials charged with the enforcement of the law are in sympathy with the sentiment which secured their enactment and are resolutely determined to do their duty. Therefore we hold that no candidate for any office which has to do with the enactment or enforcement of the law should receive the support of Christian men unless he is willing to place himself in an attitude of open hostility to the whole nefarious liquor traffic. Only by the correct use of our ballots may we hope to secure reforms so vital to the cause of good government and civic righteousness.

The Methodist Church is now, as it has always been, opposed to the union of Church and State; but it does believe that this is a Christian nation, and that laws which are the expression of the best sentiment of its Christian men and women should be enforced and upheld by those who are in thorough accord with that sentiment. And we believe that it is not only the right but it is the duty of our ministers to advise their members touching their duties and responsibilities as citizens of this great Christian republic. We believe that the kingdom of God in this world means something real, and that it is the solemn duty of the Church and of its ministers and members to wage a ceaseless warfare against every institution which retards the progress and full development of that kingdom; therefore,

Resolved: 1. That the Methodist Church records its hearty approval of all laws now on the statute books for the outlawry of the liquor traffic and favors such additional legislation as may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of those laws. Any backward step upon this subject will meet the determined opposition of the Church.

2. The Methodist Church stands for the fair, just, and impartial enforcement of all laws, and especially the laws designed for the moral uplift of the people; and to that end those who aspire to executive offices who are not in accord with this sentiment should be rebuked.

3. The Church prays that the day may soon come when we shall have nation-wide prohibition, and Congress is petitioned to enact such laws as will be necessary to promote this end.

4. The Methodist Church records its appreciation of the zeal and fidelity with which the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Anti-Saloon League have waged war on the open saloon, and pledges these organizations its hearty support.

To God the Father be all praise and honor and glory forever! To him we acknowledge our gratitude for these blessings which he hath vouchsafed us, and pray that his Spirit may guide and direct the State and the nation through every crisis. May we so discharge the duties as citizens here that we shall be worthy of that higher citizenship in heaven!

Respectfully submitted.

J. I. FINNEY, Chairman,
T. B. GILLIAM, Secretary.

LAYMEN'S COMMITTEE.

Your committee of laymen beg to report as follows:

1. That we have carefully considered the letter addressed to this Conference by the General Secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and heartily approve the policy of the movement so far as it is expressed therein.

2. We believe the every-member canvass, seeking to secure a weekly offering for home and foreign missions from every Southern Methodist, will enable us to do our share in evangelizing Christless men at home and abroad, and that it will eventually solve most of the financial problems of the Church, and we hereby pledge our laymen to a full coöperation with our pastors in carrying it into effect.

3. The very marked success that has attended the use of the duplex envelope leads us to urge its general adoption as the simplest and most effective device for collecting missionary money and the current expenses of the Church, thus leaving our pastors unembarrassed for the delivery of their glorious message.

4. We believe that Go Forward, the Christian Advocate, and the Midland Methodist offer to the Laymen's Missionary Movement convenient and effective media for the education of our people on the subject of missions and for keeping them informed on the progress of the work. Therefore we respectfully request the managers of these papers to open a Laymen's Missionary Department, and recommend that the Missionary Committee make it a part of the every-member canvass to see that one or all of these publications be put in every Southern Methodist home in this Conference.

5. We heartily approve the action of this Conference in assessing the Church membership to increase the endowment fund for the superannuated preachers, and we pledge the laity hearty coöperation in raising this assessment.

6. We believe that our Church schools and colleges are furnishing to our Southland its best type of manhood and womanhood, and urge our laymen everywhere to make the better endowment and equipment of these institutions a matter of immediate consideration.

7. We believe no man can be a happy and growing Christian who makes no personal effort to win others to Christ. Therefore we recommend that our laymen heartily coöperate with their pastors in revival work, and that they volunteer to conduct religious services where needed. It will thus become practicable to have some form of Christian service at every preaching place within our borders every Sunday.

8. We recommend that the Conference lay leader and district leader be made members ex officio of the District Conference.

9. We most earnestly request the presiding elders to arrange for a Laymen's Day at the District Conference, and that in making their regular rounds they emphasize the question relating to the election of Church lay leaders.

10. We hereby nominate Mr. Robert Eleazer for Conference lay leader, and Mr. F. M. Massey for Conference vice leader for the ensuing year.

Respectfully submitted.

BOOKS AND PERIODICALS.

Your committee is pleased to note that the publishing interests of the Church in general seem to be in better condition than at this time last year.

The Methodist Review, under the leadership of Dr. Gross Alexander, is forging its way to the front ranks of the great religious publications of America. The editor is entitled to our heartiest thanks for the variety and excellence of the articles contained therein and for his efforts to increase the number of readers. We believe that this magazine should not only be in the hands of more ministers, but of more laymen as well, and we urge every pastor to make special efforts with this in view. It should be a source of satisfaction to know that this publication is more than self-supporting.

The new editor of the Advocate, Dr. Thomas N. Ivey, has come to his present position after years of experience in this important line of work. He has chosen as his assistant Dr. J. S. Chadwick, who is also an experienced newspaper man. With their experience and ability, the interests of our general organ will doubtless be well looked after. The paper has been made more attractive by the change in the general make-up. The editors are to be congratulated on the good beginning they have made. It is with regret that we note that this important publication is not yet on a self-supporting basis. With the hearty coöperation of pastors and people, we believe this goal can be reached. This paper, with all its interesting departments, should be a weekly visitor to every Methodist home.

A forward step was made last November when the Memphis Conference adopted the Midland Methodist as its official organ. We are glad to welcome the brethren of that Conference among the readers of our Conference paper that has been serving for so long the Methodists of Holston and of Tennessee. This paper could be made much more interesting if more pastors would send in even brief accounts of the work being done in their respective charges. We recommend the continuation of the following as a commission: G. A. Morgan, T. C. Ragsdale, and J. I. Finney.

We are glad to state that the Epworth Era is now on a self-supporting basis. The editor, Dr. F. S. Parker, and assistant editor, Rev. J. Marvin Culbreth, are to be commended in their new policy of conducting the Era in such a way as to deal with the practical problems that confront the young people of Southern Methodism.

We as a Church are peculiarly fortunate in having such men as Drs. Chappell and Beaty at the head of our Sunday school publications. Not in the history of the Church have we had a higher grade of such literature, and we are especially pleased to note that an effort is being made to adapt the lessons to the intellectual and spiritual development of the pupil.

The combination of the various missionary periodicals into one is the best step that could have been made, and we sincerely trust that this new and greater publication will find its way to every Methodist home once a month.

The committee deprecates the presence of some objectionable patent medicine advertisements in some of our Church papers.

We wish to heartily commend the agents of our Publishing House for the special efforts made during the past year to get the various publications before our people, and we express the hope that they will continue such efforts during this and the coming years.

We urge the pastors and laymen of our Church to interest themselves more in the publications gotten out by our Publishing House. The different books and periodicals should not only be commended to our people in a general way, but special efforts should be made to get more of this excellent reading material in the hands and homes of the people.

J. J. STOWE, Chairman;
J. P. LUTON, Secretary.

CHURCH EXTENSION.

The Board of Church Extension submits the following report:

At the last session of the General Conference aid to parsonages was changed from the Home Mission Society to the Board of Church Extension; and an increase of $50,000 was assessed to the whole Church, and the Tennessee Conference, of course, must bear its proportional part.

As the General Board is authorized to prepare and furnish deeds for use of the Church in securing property, the Board therefore calls the attention of presiding elders and pastors in charge to this matter, and requests them to apply to the office of the Parent Board at Louisville, Ky., for these blank deeds when needed in the future. We suggest that the presiding elders get and keep a number on hand for use in their several districts.

The Board has set aside $200 to be added to the Tennessee Conference Loan Fund, making now a total of $500, which sum is and will be deposited in the Fourth National Bank at Nashville, Tenn., at three per cent interest.

Under the law governing the Board, this sum is subject to use as a loan fund.

We again call attention to the Sunday school loan fund, which is to be used in building Sunday school rooms.

We have made the following appropriations:

New Providence, Clarksville District.....	$ 100
Aspen Hill, Columbia District.....	170
Kedron, Columbia District.....	100
Bee Spring, Columbia District.....	350
Craggie Hope, Dickson District.....	125
Lone Oak, Dickson District.....	100

Oak Grove, Savannah District.....	100
Hohenwald, Savannah District.....	200
Loretta, Savannah District.....	150

 Total .....	 $3,480

The appropriation to Lone Oak is conditioned to be paid when this will complete and pay the church out of debt. The appropriation to Craggie Hope is on the same condition. The appropriations to Loretta and Oak Grove are to be paid when the buildings are complete and these appropriations will pay them out of debt. The appropriation to Hohenwald is payable when they raise and expend as much as $750 on a building.

J. B. MURREY, *Treasurer.SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD.

Dear Brethren: This year ends the quadrennium of your Sunday School Board. It is with feelings of mingled regret and pleasure that we look back over the work and contemplate the result. We have accomplished so little as compared to what we desired to do that we are filled with regret. But when we look at the other side of the picture and behold the progress made, in some measure we are filled with pleasure.

A comparison of this year's work with that of last year shows a marked advance in the interest manifested throughout nearly every district in the Conference, both in the city and country schools, in the observance of Children's Day. It is with much pleasure that we report Children's Day collections this year to be $480.23 in excess over last year—an increase of more than thirty-three and one-third per cent.

The General Conference Sunday School Board is furnishing the Church with an abundance of literature for every department of Sunday school work, and it is the very best ever produced by or for any Church. Let all of our schools use this our own literature and not get it from any other source. We should be loyal to our own. We recommend that all schools in the Conference adopt and use the plans to organize and grade our schools as prepared by our General Conference Sunday School Board. Charts can be procured from our Sunday School Department at the Publishing House, Nashville. Looking to the federation of the adult Bible classes in our Church, the General Conference in May last provided for Wesley adult Bible classes organized for the training of Christian character for Christian service by means of Bible study, mutual helpfulness, and social fellowship. We request all our schools to organize adult classes if they have not already done so, and enroll all such classes in this department, in order that there may be unity of policy and action. Rev. Charles D. Bulla, Nashville, Tenn., is at the head of this department, and will furnish all needed information.

It is the law of the Church that every Sunday school shall hold a Children's Day service and take up a collection. Let every school observe this law. A few schools have failed to do so this year. Rev. W. M. Green has been agent for the Sunday school, and has done faithful service. We ask the Bishop to appoint him again to this work for next year. We pray God's blessings on every effort and plan for the coming year.

Respectfully submitted.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.

Dear Brethren: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel," a command from our blessed Christ which has a meaning to it, we ought to heed—preachers and laymen. How can this gospel be best preached, or how can it be effectively preached at all, unless his Book be put into the hand of all the people? If the preaching of his gospel be based upon this Book, how infinitely important that especially all his ministers who are called to preach the everlasting gospel should bestir themselves and persist in the collection of money for the sending of this Book throughout the world! We urge that you lay this upon your charge the incoming year in such a manner that all laymen will come to your rescue and lend a helping hand in the furtherance of this cause as never before. If one person from a large estate can give $500,000, thus influencing an additional $500,000 for this cause, cannot we all give something, remembering the widow and the mite?

There are numerous evidences on record and we have the testimony of living witnesses where a single copy of this Book has caused the conversion of souls and furnished light unaided by any human agency.

We recommend that all collections taken shall be paid directly to your Secretary and Treasurer, because you have created this office for that purpose; and you shall know just how much has been paid and what disposition has been made of it, and this amount shall be reported to you, that your Minutes may show from year to year what has been paid and how it has been disbursed.

Your Secretary and Treasurer has collected this year the sum of $261.07.

Respectfully submitted.

J. F. TINNON, President;
JESSE CAGE, Secretary and Treasurer.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

The Committee on District Conference Records beg to submit the following report:

1. The Savannah District record has been excellently kept. To have been pen-written, we cannot see how it could have been improved.
2. The record of the Fayetteville District is typewritten, from which fact and for other reasons it is a model of perfection.
3. The Nashville District record is also typewritten and in good form, but omits the official roll and the signatures of the President and Secretary.
4. We have no criticism to make of the Lebanon District record. It is well written, neat, and full.
5. The record of the Clarksville District has been well and neatly kept, with the one exception of neglecting to give the official roll.
6. The Murfreesboro journal fails to give the complete Conference roll, and does not designate the official relation of the members.
7. The Franklin District record does not show what members were present at the Conference. Otherwise the body of the minutes is in good form and well indexed.
8. For reasons explained and satisfactory to your committee, the Columbia District record did not reach the committee.
9. The Dickson District record is in good form, but no record was made of what members were present.

We wish to call attention to the general improvement in the keeping of these records, and to compliment the excellence with which they have been kept during the past year.

Respectfully submitted.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Your Committee on Sabbath Observance beg to report as follows:

The subject-matter which this committee has in hand deserves far more attention than is usually bestowed upon it. We believe that the fourth commandment is just as binding as it ever was. When Jesus said, "Whosoever will break one of the least of these commandments, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven," he intended this to apply to the fourth commandment just as much as to any other. The Sabbath was not given to hedge us about by a number of burdensome restrictions, but for the good of man—physically, intellectually, morally, and spiritually. While we are not in favor of the Puritanical Sabbath, we are absolutely opposed to what is known as the Continental Sabbath; and yet we believe that there is great and growing danger of reverting thereto. This would make of our Christian Sabbath a holiday rather than a holy day. Laxity in Sabbath observance is increasing to an alarming extent. And while we of the South have possibly been stricter than other sections of the country, we cannot disguise the fact that a disregard of the Sabbath is steadily growing in this section. We deplore the fact that in our cities and larger towns more and more attention is given on Sunday to baseball and other outdoor amusements, together with excursions and social gatherings, especially of the young people, which explains the absence of so many of our older people and practically all of our young people from Sunday evening services. We also deplore the fact that in the country too many of our people spend the day in visiting from place to place, and thus subordinating the duty they owe to God to their social enjoyment, and in many cases actually preventing those who would go to church from doing so.

In both city and country there is a deplorable looseness in the observance of the day in the matter of buying and selling. Many merchants have very little conscience in regard to selling small articles on the Sabbath day, and many of their customers have equally as little in buying.

Your committee therefore recommends:

1. That, if possible, more emphasis be given this subject from the pulpit, and that at least once a year our preachers devote a sermon to the subject of Sabbath observance, and that our Sunday school superintendents and teachers give it the attention it deserves in their schools and classes.
2. That we ask the editors of our Sunday school literature and young people's papers to strongly emphasize this vital matter.

FELIX H. COLEMAN, Chairman;

J. L. McWHORTER, Secretary.

CHURCH PROPERTY.

We, your Committee on Church Property, think from reports given by pastors that there is a considerable increase in the number and value of churches and parsonages.

We trust that our presiding elders and pastors will see that our churches and parsonages are insured and kept insured, or at least use their influence with such an end in view. We further suggest that the presiding elders and pastors see that all grounds on which churches or parsonages are built or to be built contain the "trust clause," as the Discipline requires. In some places this has not been done.

We insist upon all who are concerned in parsonage property, and especially pastors, that the grounds on which parsonages are located are cared for, as well as the parsonage itself, in order that each succeeding pastor may have a more beautiful home.

We learn that there are sixty-eight charges in the bounds of the Conference which have no parsonage. We hope the time will soon come when each charge will have a good, nice, furnished home for the preacher.

O. C. HALEY, Secretary.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Twenty years ago the Church in her wisdom saw fit to embody in the book of Discipline a provision that "Epworth Leagues be organized in all our congregations for the promotion of piety and loyalty to the Church among our young people; their education in the Bible, Christian literature, and in the missionary work of the Church; and their encouragement in works of grace and charity."

There are numerous evidences on record and we have the testimony of living witnesses where a single copy of this Book has caused the conversion of souls and furnished light unaided by any human agency.

EPWORTH LEAGUE BOARD.

Twenty years ago the Church in her wisdom saw fit to embody in the book of Discipline a provision that "Epworth Leagues be organized in all our congregations for the promotion of piety and loyalty to the Church among our young people; their education in the Bible, Christian literature, and in the missionary work of the Church; and their encouragement in works of grace and charity."

For the means and labor expended upon its inauguration and maintenance, no organization in the Church has returned such large results.

Its membership has increased steadily until there are now 145,091 young people who are contributing largely to the life of the Church as seen in the work of the boards of stewards, missionary societies, and Sunday schools.

We are glad to report that the Epworth Era has a circulation of 16,600, and is self-sustaining. The wisdom of the last General Conference has already been seen in the election of Dr. F. S. Parker as editor. The present policy of the paper is to give the largest possible amount of practical help in League work and of news, making it a means of inspiration to the spiritual life and an interpretation of that life in accord with the tenets and history of Methodism.

There are three things which we believe can be powerfully influential in bringing about larger success in League work. One is that each member of the Board assume responsibility for promoting the work of the Epworth League in the district to which he belongs, in particular supporting the policy of the General Board to organize a Chapter in every congregation.

Another is that they give the weight of their counsel to the plan of having the officers of the State and Conference League organization devote some of their time to traveling through the districts in the interest of the Epworth League.

And in the third place, will not the Board do everything in its power to enterprise and to promote the assembly plan for the development of Christian workers within the bounds of our Conference?

The Annual Conference at Bon Aqua Springs, held last June, has incorporated the annual Epworth League Conference within its organization, and its success augurs well for the future. This summer Conference, as a training school in methods and an opportunity for spiritual development, meets a most urgent need.

We urge our pastors to coöperate in enlarging the usefulness of this Conference, and we recommend that for this year this work be intrusted to the Executive Committee elected at the executive meeting at Bon Aqua.

GEORGE R. ALLEN, Secretary.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Never before has the divine commission to the Church to teach had greater significance to the world or greater importance for the Church itself than it has to-day. If the Church of God is divinely called to teach, it is most surely divinely called to establish and build institutions of learning; and if it is called to establish and build, it is called to own; and if it is called to own, it is also called to direct and control what it owns. Ownership without power to control would be a meaningless and empty term. The Church should provide institutions of learning equal to the best, and only when she does has she a right to appeal to her people for patronage and support. To establish many and great institutions of learning calls for the expenditure of a vast amount of money. The Church welcomes gifts to the cause of education, be they large or small; but under no circumstances does she seek or desire gifts of money that in any way or to any degree call for a surrender of her rights to own and control her own institutions of learning. The mission of Church schools is to create and maintain Christian ideals in the sphere of education. This it does by recognizing God as the Creator and Preserver of the world, Jesus Christ, the divine Son of God, as the Saviour of men, and the Holy Scriptures as the divinely inspired message of God to the human soul. It is only as these divine forces and factors are made a part of education that education can create character, can make noble types of cultured Christian manhood and womanhood, which is the aim and end of all Christian education. The debt of the world to Church schools cannot easily be overestimated. No moral asset of our nation is of more value than our Christian institutions of learning. In serving the Churches that have founded and fostered them, the Christian colleges and universities of our land are also in the highest degree serving the State and the nation.

We welcome to our Conference Dr. Stonewall Anderson, the Secretary of the General Board of Education. His report for the past year gives gratifying evidence of progress in all departments of the educational work of the Church. We are glad to pledge our coöperation and support in every forward movement in behalf of Christian education that is represented by the General Board.

The Correspondence School continues to render invaluable service to the young ministry of our own and other Conferences, and we urge all of our young preachers to take advantage of the opportunities offered by this school for guidance and assistance in the prosecution of their studies. The Methodist Training School, located at Nashville, is worthy of our indorsement, patronage, and support. We commend it to men and women of means in our Conference as a worthy claimant upon their liberality. The patronage of Vanderbilt University during the past year reached the highest mark it has ever attained, having 1,007 students enrolled, of which number 125 were students for the ministry, all but one of these being members of our own Church preparing for our itinerant ministry. As the leading motive in the original founding of Vanderbilt University was to provide an institution of learning for the thorough education of young men preparing for the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, it behooves us as a Conference to make the largest possible use of the opportunities and advantages provided in this central university of the Church which is providentially located in our midst.

The Biblical Institute which meets annually in the month of June continues to serve a useful purpose in our Conference, guiding many of our young preachers in a most valuable course of reading and study, and providing them with a course of lectures full of inspiration both to the intellectual and the spiritual man, and this entirely without any cost to the attendants for the rich feast provided. The last session of the Institute, which was regarded by many as the best ever held, was attended by about one hundred members of this Conference. It is the purpose of the Program Committee to place the emphasis at the next session of the Institute, both in the books to be read and in the lectures to be delivered, upon the problems of evangelization in city, town, and country communities.

We have received reports from the President and the Board of Trustees of Martin College, and find much cause for encouragement in the facts presented. The Board of Trustees had their annual meeting in April and made careful inquiry into the management of the college both as regards finances and the literary work of the school. The debt was reduced from $18,000 to $15,000 during the year. An invested fund of $3,000 held by the Board of Education was used in this way, this being in accordance with the action of the Conference at its last session at Franklin a year ago. The patronage of the school has increased rapidly under President Wynn's successful management until there are now 78 boarders and 105 day pupils, making a total of 183 students at present enrolled in the school. The college is sadly in need of larger dormitory facilities, the one and only building of the college being wholly inadequate to meet present needs. Either the enlargement of the present building or the erection of an additional dormitory is imperatively demanded by the continually increasing patronage of the school.

The Board of Trustees are aiding President Wynn in providing the best possible faculty. No effort will be spared to make every improvement that may be called for and be within our power. Quality in the work done, rather than quantity in the number of students sought, is the motto which we are seeking to establish for the school. We must not expect to attain our highest ideal in a day or a year, but we hope each year to show decided progress in attaining this ideal. Twelve of the daughters of our preachers have been enrolled as students this year, and we are gratified to learn of the high stand which they as a class are taking in the school.

We recommend that the same assessment be made upon the Conference for the benefit of the college the coming year that was made last fall for the present year, the method of using it for the best interests of the college being left entirely to the Board of Trustees.

Under our rules it is made the duty of the Conference Board of Education to nominate those who are to fill vacancies on the Board of Trustees of the college. We therefore recommend that A. A. Patterson be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of C. L. Cooper; that E. J. Childers be elected to take the place of Mark Arrowsmith; that Rev George A. Morgan be elected to take the place of Rev. J. T. Curry; and that others whose term of membership expires at this session of the Conference be reelected as their own successors—the adoption of this report by the Conference being made to constitute their due and proper election to membership on the Board of Trustees.

We recommend that the appropriation for beneficiaries of the Board of Education in the Conference to be made for the next current year (1911-12) shall be limited to the sum of $1,500, and that it be made the policy of the Board to extend financial assistance only to those attending Methodist institutions of learning.

The Twentieth Century Fund now amounts to $9,406.43, which includes the D. C. Kelley donation. Because of the failure of the bank containing the deposits of the Tennessee Conference Brotherhood going to the estate of Dr. Kelley, and the locking up of the funds of the bank in the hands of the officers of the court, it has been impossible to carry out the action of the Conference taken last year looking to the establishment of the Lavinia Kelley Scholarship for the benefit of preachers' daughters in Vanderbilt University. In the meantime this donation is at interest, being carefully invested, and we suggest the postponement of further action with reference to this proposed scholarship until a later date, when the affairs of the bank that failed shall have been finally settled.

We recommend the appointment of Rev. J. F. Morelock and Louis O. Adams to a professorship in Ruskin College, and that all the young preachers of the Conference who desire to attend schools within the bounds of this Conference for the coming year be permitted to do so; also that C. R. Watkins be appointed to Yale University for the coming year.

The report of the Treasurer, J. W. Brister, follows.

Respectfully submitted.

JOINT BOARD OF FINANCE.

Report No. 1.

We submit herewith the annual report of the Board of Trust for Superannuated Preachers, Widows, and Orphans of your Conference, and ask that the same may be made part of your published Minutes.

A check for $872.26 accompanied this report, being the accrued income for one year.

We also have an order for the income from the Colvin Fund of $28.

Both these amounts are carried to the fund now for distribution. During the year Brother T. P. Weakley, Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Superannuate Conference Fund, has gone to his reward, and the Board has elected Mr. Percy D. The Joint Board further reports that Rev. John R. Stewart, through this Board, submits to this Conference a report as Secretary of the Board of Trust of the Endowment Fund for Superannuates of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the same accompanies this report.

We further report that we have received from Rev. John R. Stewart, Secretary, $201, said to be this Conference's share of the income from said fund now for distribution; and this check is also carried to the fund for distribution at the present Conference.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The Board of Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as custodian of the Endowment Fund for Superannuates, respectfully submits the following for your consideration:

The growth of the fund has continued steadily, the past year marking the largest amount of cash receipts for the quadrennium. The present resources are indicated by the following figures: Cash assets, $166,000; notes, subscriptions, and other assets, $107,750. Total, $273,750.

We are gratified to be able to report that, excepting eight, all of the larger Conferences have assumed assessments for this fund aggregating for this year $25,000; so that the prospects are fair for an increase of cash receipts for the coming year.

It will be the policy of the Board to insist that the remaining Conferences should either fall in line with the assessment idea or make effective the original plan of presenting the cause separately through pastors and taking a collection annually in each congregation. Either method, faithfully operated, will secure satisfactory returns and keep the fund in a state of steady growth.

The sum of $5,552 was disbursed to the several Annual Conferences the past year, and we shall be able to do at least as much the present year. Occasionally we are reminded that it is necessary to emphasize the fact that this is a connectional movement, and as such has its peculiar advantages and responsibilities. When the fund shall have grown to more commanding proportions, it will invite bequests and large donations where in some instances local funds would fail to secure them.

The connectional spirit in our Church has been aroused on the subjects of missions, Church extension, etc. Why should it not be equally strong anent the support of our worthy Conference claimants? Almost everything depends on our faithful pastors in the matter of developing a proper sentiment for their better support. Brethren, the valuable aid you have already rendered this noble enterprise is sincerely appreciated. Your continued coöperation is earnestly sought in carrying forward this work toward completion. Praying the divine blessing upon you in your Conference session, we remain your servants.

JOHN R. STEWART, Secretary.

BOARD OF MISSIONS.

Never before has the missionary cause received such widespread and intelligent attention as at the present day. We are coming more fully to an appreciation of the fact that the Church is set in the power of the Spirit and the organization of its forces toward carrying out Christ's purposes and plans in the salvation of the world. This work is coming more and more to occupy the thought and skill of God's workmen who are constantly led by the promptings of that greatest force in the human breast, the love of God.

We in the Tennessee Conference are catching the vision of the possibilities of the gospel beyond our borders for routing the powers of evil and lifting men into the light of God. Already effective plans for aggressive missionary effort are being projected beyond the ordinary work of the collections, which should be the minimum of our endeavor and not our highest ideal. The laymen of the Clarksville District have taken up such a work in the support of a missionary in Japan, the Columbia District another in the Isle of Pines, the Franklin District yet another in the Isle of Pines; while West End Church has such an enterprise, as also have McKendree and Hobson Churches. Many smaller enterprises of a similar kind are being carried out among the Churches of the Conference.

The work is not lagging in the home field, for we are coming to recognize that the more we do for others, the better is the work at home. At the same time we regret to acknowledge that only two districts of the Conference this year have paid their collections in full, which is a dropping back from our record as a Conference as set forth in reports of former years. We congratulate the Lebanon and Franklin Districts for their faithful work in meeting the financial obligations placed upon them. We are glad also to report that nine charges and one district have grown so that they ask to be discontinued as missions and gladly launch their work on an independent basis; at the same time we have been asked to form only five new ones. The Columbia District last year did a splendid work through their laymen, who asked this Board to give them the privilege of raising the necessary amount for the support of the pastor within the only missionary territory in their district.

The successful issue of the work of our missionary evangelists has far surpassed our most sanguine expectations. Their clear presentation of missionary truth and distribution of missionary information through tracts and books have been most helpful to our people. But especially do we rejoice that they have brought glorious sheaves for the harvest in the salvation of men in the neglected places. Rev. J. A. Molloy, though sick part of the year, reports 600 conversions and 350 accessions to the Church, and Mr. Bell Regen, our lay evangelist, 1,340 conversions and reclamations, with 453 accessions to the Church. Besides these tabulated results, pastors' salaries have been raised, Sunday schools organized, missionary societies set to work, and all the general interests of the kingdom of God advanced. We confess that this work of our evangelists was launched in pure faith; but to-day, while we rejoice in such splendid results, it has been done at the small cost to the Board of only $149. However, it might be well to say that $210 of their salaries was raised from private sources.

It affords us pleasure to call attention to the Wesley House in South Nashville, in charge of Miss Allen, and the Warioto Settlement of North Nashville, in charge of the Methodist Training School. These enterprises are doing magnificent work for the salvation and uplift of our people in those sections of the city. They are going among our sinful and poor and bringing them through a kindly service to Christ.

The Methodist Training School, in charge of Rev. J. E. McCulloch, is not only through its workers lifting the fallen, but is training workers for skillful service as deaconesses, nurses, and missionaries both for the home and foreign field. They employed nine teachers and instructors last year, and had in attendance eighty-three students, and turned out sixteen graduates. The prospects are flattering for the incoming year. The President and Secretary of this Board are requested to attend the Workers' Conference to be held at the Methodist Training School, in Nashville, December 28 to January 5, inclusive, at their own expense; and presiding elders are earnestly requested to select at least one delegate from their respective districts and provide for all necessary expenses, amounting to some thirteen dollars each.

Recognizing the need of trained leaders in missionary enterprises of the local Church and the primary importance of missionary education among our young people, we most heartily commend the plans of the Summer Conference for Christian Workers held last summer at Bon Aqua Springs, and desire to call your attention to its splendid facilities for training in missionary leadership. This Conference should command our hearty support throughout.

The necessity for the erection of the Galloway Memorial Hospital, $46,000 for which has already been provided, was shown in a report of that work by the Commissioner. It is believed that this humanitarian enterprise, set for the alleviation of the sufferings of mankind as a means of leading men to Christ, can be projected within the next six months. A campaign of thirty days was proposed for the entire Conference, that together the whole $250,000 necessary to that institution might be raised. A committee of nine men—one from each district—was asked for to work in conjunction with the Hospital Commissioner and the Board of Directors of Galloway Memorial Hospital to that end.

We heard with great pleasure and profit Dr. J. M. Moore, Secretary of the Home Department of the Board of Missions, and as a result of his appeal the following was unanimously adopted: "Resolved, That each pastor in the Conference be earnestly requested to take up the question of lay leadership, with the object of having each pulpit in his circuit, except the one occupied by himself, supplied each Sunday by either a layman or a local preacher, thus filling every pulpit in the entire Conference each Sunday in the year." This work looks toward the strengthening of our charges and the enlargement of our pastors' salaries, so necessary to successful leadership, and should enlist the coöperation of all our Churches.

The proposed new missionary periodical, the consolidation of the missionary papers of the various Boards as heretofore presented, we believe to be the best policy. Such a movement we indorse most heartily, and we urge our people to give their intelligent and enthusiastic support, that this missionary review may be brought speedily to the notice of our people, that it may be widely read and its information scattered everywhere.

In the fear of God and in love for men, therefore we turn in repentance from the past and in faith look toward the future with a fixed and determined purpose, as pastors and laymen, to make the next year the best of all in our history in the salvation of the world; and as we present our plans, we would call upon the God of hosts to lead us.

MEMOIRS.

REV. WOOD BOULDIN, the subject of this sketch, fifth son of B. L. and Elizabeth Bouldin, was born at Bridgeport, Cocke County, Tennessee, on December 14, 1847. His parents were of a sturdy pioneer stock, originally from Virginia, from which State they emigrated early in the last century. His father and elder brother were soldiers of the Confederacy, and were both made captains of their companies early in the struggle for heroism and distinguished service on the field of battle. Brother Bouldin's father, Capt. B. L. Bouldin, was killed in battle late in 1861, leaving the subject of this sketch, a sturdy boy of fourteen, at the head of a family consisting of a mother and three little sisters. To this inconceivable calamity of orphanage and widowhood there were quickly added the absolute destruction of their nice home, the theft of all their possessions, and the confiscation of their farm by Federal soldiers. The other son mentioned disappeared, perhaps going the way of tens of thousands of other brave Southerners who poured out their ruby lifeblood as a libation to the god of war. From this tremendous responsibility of protecting and providing for a large family in disjointed times this worthy young scion of noble ancestors did not shrink nor flinch. He bent his young, unseasoned back to the heavy burdens, and placed his unrounded shoulders to the tasks. His labor kept away the wolves by day, his courage—unflinching, quiet, unostentatious courage—kept the vandal away at night. Wood Bouldin had a fine mind, capable of continuous and severe thought. His was the resourceful mind of an architect and builder, which could behold natural climaxes in the spires and minarets of logical cumulative reasoning; a chaste mind that loved to think chaste thoughts of beauty and value. But see how things had to go. Just when this sturdy, courageous, quiet, fourteen-year-old boy should have been in school preparing for college, training his ready, hungry mind and disciplining his powers for life's tremendous battles, he had to go to the carpenter's bench and push the plane and saw, that those dependent upon him might have bread to eat and raiment to put on. Brother Bouldin removed to Pulaski, Giles County, Tennessee, in 1867, when just twenty years of age, and formed a copartnership with a Mr. Pittman in the contracting and building business. The firm was a success from the beginning. They got all the work they could do, and made money. On November 17, 1871, Brother Bouldin was happily married to Miss Martha Morris, of Giles County, and to this union there were born fifteen children, of whom, however, only seven survive him, together with the wife of his youth. Brother Bouldin was happily converted in a powerful revival conducted by Rev. W. M. Leftwich, of holy memory, in the city of Pulaski, on August 21, 1881. His was one of those old powerful conversions that revolutionized and transformed his whole being. As quickly as he felt the powerful change in soul and body he went directly to his wife, and they two immediately joined the Church together. Brother Bouldin's religious activities began at once. Cottage prayer meetings, services out in the hills and barren and neglected places were his fort, and to these he addressed himself. He made money until he was converted, and then he forgot all about money-making in his zeal for the Lord of hosts. Soon he was licensed to preach, and on October 9, in the year 1886, at Clarksville, Tenn., he was received on trial into the traveling connection, Bishop E. R. Hendrix presiding. After his admission he served the following charges: Palmyra Circuit, 1886-89; Salem Circuit, 1889-90; Fayetteville Circuit, 1890-91; Medium, 1891-94; Blanche, 1894-97; Bee Spring Circuit, 1897-99; Sumner Circuit, 1899-01; Cumberland City, 1901-03; White Bluff, 1903-05; Charlotte Circuit, 1905-07; Santa Fe, till the day and hour of his death, February 14, at 2 P.M. It was the great privilege of the writer to serve as Brother Bouldin's presiding elder for three years while he was at White Bluff and at Charlotte. His was a fine, logical, clear, strong mind. He saw the truth clearly, grasped it like a vise, and held it with unshakable tenacity. His flow of language was even, smooth, and very chaste, the right word springing to his tongue just when needed and fitting exactly to its place. He was at times very eloquent. When under the powerful unction of the Spirit there would be flights of eloquence which his hearers rarely heard excelled. Brother Bouldin was a courageous man. He was neither boastful nor loud, but quiet, kind, unexcitable. He moved right along on an even plane, turning neither to right nor left, whatever the obstruction or opposition. He met danger, bitter disappointment, and desperate privation with a smile, and his face in death wore the same happy smile. Did you ever observe Wood Bouldin's smile? The writer has seen him tested more than once when against odds; in the midst of organized opposition the two stood shoulder to shoulder and won the battle. No better backing nor truer friend is needed by any one. Brother Bouldin's home life was beautiful. He ruled with a strong hand, being the head of the household. He directed the affairs well and righteously. His children idolized him. His quiet, devoted, modest wife was his right hand and helpmeet indeed. They two were life partners in everything. His devotion and care over his mother through her widowhood until her death and his support and protection of his three little sisters was the joy and satisfaction of his latter days. The very memory of those trying and laborious times was thrilling and satisfying to him. The grace of God did much for Wood Bouldin. This man was "dipped in baths of hissing tears, and battered by the shocks of doom." His father's tragical death, his brother's, and the others of his father's family; then his mother's death, and then one after another eight of his own dear children preceded him to the better world. Two weeks before his own death his youngest and favorite sister breathed her last. Then there were the changing fortunes of the itinerancy, the small, half-paid salaries, the long moves, the terrific hardships and privations, and the personal illness; but through it all he kept the faith and fought a good fight, maintained his Christian integrity to the end, and now, even now, wears the crown of life. His body was laid to rest in the beautiful local cemetery at Santa Fe, after services conducted by his presiding elder, G. L. Beale, assisted by Rev. W. T. Haggard, Rev. D. E. Hinkle, and the writer. Farewell, dear, true friend, brother, father, husband, Methodist preacher! Your warfare is accomplished and your works do follow you.

REV. BENJAMIN JORDAN GASTON, son of T. C. and Catherine Gaston, was born on December 29, 1841. He was born again and assumed Church membership in 1865. He was admitted on trial into the traveling connection in the Tennessee Conference in 1867. The following pastoral charges were served and edified by his labors: Rich Valley Circuit, two years; Chickasaw, four years (while on that work, it being in North Alabama, he was cut off with the North Alabama Conference, but was transferred back to the Tennessee Conference in 1873); Oakland Mission, one year; Marble Plains Circuit, three years; Rich Valley, one year; Lewisburg and Cornersville, one year; Flat Creek Circuit, one year; Bedford Circuit, one year; Petersburg and Dryden's, one year; Pleasant Plains, one year; Bedford Circuit, two years; superannuated in 1885. He passed from the labors and sufferings of earth on March 24, 1910. This record of service indicates that he labored in ten different fields during the eighteen years of his active work. He was a superannuate for nearly twenty-five years, making a term of almost forty-three years of identification with the Methodist itinerant ministry, the most blessed fellowship known to this earth. In seeking to do simple justice to the memory of our departed friend and brother, for his character needs neither veneer nor whitewash, I wish to say that he was made in large mold and fashioned heroically. He was a superannuate for nearly twenty-five years, making a term of almost forty-three years of identification with the Methodist itinerant ministry, the most blessed fellowship known to this earth. In seeking to do simple justice to the memory of our departed friend and brother, for his character needs neither veneer nor whitewash, I wish to say that he was made in large mold and fashioned heroically. Physically, he was giantlike from sole to crown. He moved with erect carriage and firm step. He looked out of his steady, kindly eyes, set beneath an ample brow, upon a world he appreciated and upon men with whom he was on good terms. His every movement indicated earnestness. He seemed to have come to this world for a purpose. There was concealed back of the broad forehead thinking power of rather unusual vigor, as I estimated him. He could not have been classified as a bookish man, yet he was fond of good reading. Not so dependent on books as some may be, he had the power and habit of thinking and of thinking on elevating themes. He was reputed a strong and forceful preacher. Intimately as I knew him, it was never my privilege to hear him preach; but many times have I had the pleasure and the profit of hearing him lead the public prayer. With freshness and originality, in well-chosen words, in becoming humility he was wont to lead the congregation up to the mount of blessing, so near that the showers fell upon their hearts. It was never my privilege to hear any one who could follow a sermon in more appropriate prayer. He had in large measure the itinerant fire and zeal. In this one mind he lived and died. He steadfastly desired to be numbered among that goodly company of brethren whose sole business is to cry: "Behold, behold the Lamb!" It almost broke his heart when his health failed and he could no longer engage in the active work of an itinerant preacher. It is strongly probable, not to say certain, that his zeal outmatched his nervous strength and consumed his vital forces prematurely. His first breakdown came under the strain of leading the army of God to glorious victory in a great revival. He became abnormally excited, nervously. This high nervous tension, all the while he being perfectly rational, would last for months at a time. After his first collapse he could never again attend protracted religious services without being in grave danger of a breakdown under the high tension to which he was certain to be strung under religious excitement. This was indeed a sad state of things to a man who loved a genuine revival of religion better than almost anything this side of heaven. Much of the time he was in the furnace of affliction. The larger part of his life his physical condition was abnormal. He alternated between the extremes of undue nervous excitement and depression, while at other times he would enjoy long seasons without serious disturbance. Great bereavements fell to his lot in the loss of a promising son, who was licensed to preach the gospel, but who never preached his first sermon; and several years ago the loss of his godly wife, to whom he was deeply devoted, and who herself was one of the jewels of earth. His fatal illness was precipitated by an accident in which he sustained a fractured limb, and from which he suffered excruciatingly. All that skill and kindly attention could do was not sufficient to restore him. Serious complications developed at length, which made it apparent that the beginning of the end had come. Fortunately, through much of the weary months of great suffering he was not fully conscious of his extreme affliction. He bore with him to the last his great, heroic, magnanimous spirit. In lucid moments a few weeks before the end, but apparently then at the crossing of the river, he maintained the greatest composure and an unwavering faith. In those solemn moments, when the writer was trying to pray with and comfort him, he characteristically turned his thoughts away from himself and said with great fervor: "The Lord bless you and your wife and children." He expressed perfect resignation to the will of God, and with the vision of the true Christian looked upon the things which are not seen and eternal. He was laid to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Shelbyville, Tenn., just after a funeral service conducted by Dr. J. B. Erwin and the writer in the church at that place, in the presence of many of his friends and acquaintances. From my first acquaintance with him I loved this godly man, and I feel sure that every member of this Conference shared his prayers and undivided affection. Doubtless you will join me in an earnest petition that his two daughters and two sons remaining may know and love and serve the Saviour whom he trusted and to whom he was faithful to the end. The going away of each superannuate, ripe and rich in experience, impoverishes us, but enriches the great company above, which no man can number. He was a godly man, and sleeps well. JOHN R. ly, he was giantlike from sole to crown. He moved with erect carriage and firm step. He looked out of his steady, kindly eyes, set beneath an ample brow, upon a world he appreciated and upon men with whom he was on good terms. His every movement indicated earnestness. He seemed to have come to this world for a purpose. There was concealed back of the broad forehead thinking power of rather unusual vigor, as I estimated him. He could not have been classified as a bookish man, yet he was fond of good reading. Not so dependent on books as some may be, he had the power and habit of thinking and of thinking on elevating themes. He was reputed a strong and forceful preacher. Intimately as I knew him, it was never my privilege to hear him preach; but many times have I had the pleasure and the profit of hearing him lead the public prayer. With freshness and originality, in well-chosen words, in becoming humility he was wont to lead the congregation up to the mount of blessing, so near that the showers fell upon their hearts. It was never my privilege to hear any one who could follow a sermon in more appropriate prayer. He had in large measure the itinerant fire and zeal. In this one mind he lived and died. He steadfastly desired to be numbered among that goodly company of brethren whose sole business is to cry: "Behold, behold the Lamb!" It almost broke his heart when his health failed and he could no longer engage in the active work of an itinerant preacher. It is strongly probable, not to say certain, that his zeal outmatched his nervous strength and consumed his vital forces prematurely. His first breakdown came under the strain of leading the army of God to glorious victory in a great revival. He became abnormally excited, nervously. This high nervous tension, all the while he being perfectly rational, would last for months at a time. After his first collapse he could never again attend protracted religious services without being in grave danger of a breakdown under the high tension to which he was certain to be strung under religious excitement. This was indeed a sad state of things to a man who loved a genuine revival of religion better than almost anything this side of heaven. Much of the time he was in the furnace of affliction. The larger part of his life his physical condition was abnormal. He alternated between the extremes of undue nervous excitement and depression, while at other times he would enjoy long seasons without serious disturbance. Great bereavements fell to his lot in the loss of a promising son, who was licensed to preach the gospel, but who never preached his first sermon; and several years ago the loss of his godly wife, to whom he was deeply devoted, and who herself was one of the jewels of earth. His fatal illness was precipitated by an accident in which he sustained a fractured limb, and from which he suffered excruciatingly. All that skill and kindly attention could do was not sufficient to restore him. Serious complications developed at length, which made it apparent that the beginning of the end had come. Fortunately, through much of the weary months of great suffering he was not fully conscious of his extreme affliction. He bore with him to the last his great, heroic, magnanimous spirit. In lucid moments a few weeks before the end, but apparently then at the crossing of the river, he maintained the greatest composure and an unswerving faith. In those solemn moments, when the writer was trying to pray with and comfort him, he characteristically turned his thoughts away from himself and said with great fervor: "The Lord bless you and your wife and children." He expressed perfect resignation to the will of God, and with the vision of the true Christian looked upon the things which are not seen and eternal. REV. JOHN C. PUTMAN.

despite the burdens and sorrows of life—yields amazing results. For nearly twenty-four years the humble home of a superannuate member of the Tennessee Conference in Tullahoma had sheltered John Covington Putman. It was a retreat off the highway of achievement in an eddy of the onrushing waters of Church life; but from that home came no complaint, and within glowed like a star the sunny spirit of one who grew old graciously and bore his own burdens and sorrows with shining face and cheerful voice. Young and old loved him and came to him to plight their marriage vows and sent for him to bury their dead. Brother Putman was born on April 10, 1826, in Morgan County, Alabama. His parents, John and Lucy Covington Putman, had removed from Rutherford County, North Carolina, to Alabama in 1818. The farm on which they settled was very poor, the country rough and wild, with no schools worth mentioning and few churches. The Primitive Baptist Church predominated, and the Putmans were in sympathy with it, and late in life they both became members of its communion. Brother Putman was converted at a Methodist meeting in the summer of 1843, and joined the Methodist Church, being admitted into full membership in the spring of 1844 by Rev. Sion Record. He almost immediately began to feel that he must preach, but because of timidity and youth and lack of education he did not let his feelings be known for several years. In a manuscript found among his papers since his death Brother Putman states that while his parents taught him to speak the truth, to avoid profanity, to be honorable and industrious, he knew very little of religion. His school advantages were next to nothing, and when he was converted at seventeen years of age he knew very little beyond being able to read. He had no access to books or schools then, but read and reread the few books he could lay hands on, and read and reread the Bible, reveling in it, but not knowing how to really study it. Ignorant and timid, it was agony to him to preach, and yet he felt that he must. He tells of great meetings and great numbers of conversions from the very first, but takes no credit to himself. His third year in the ministry, when he served Waverly Circuit, he had seventeen preaching places, and his circuit embraced almost the whole of Humphreys County and a part of Dickson County. He had come near dying of a long attack of fever in his boyhood; he had another in his second year in the ministry; the next year, while on Waverly Circuit, chills and fever; a year or two later measles, with a relapse in which he nearly died. All these years he had a violent dyspepsia, and in 1860 had acute pneumonia, violent hemorrhages of the lungs, and for several years was supposed to have had consumption. He went on a farm near McMinnville during the war, serving Mt. Vernon Circuit from 1862-66, and finally overcame the lung trouble; but all his life he was frail and liable to severe sickness. He thought very lightly of what he had done. Sometimes in the rare moments when he spoke of himself at all he said that if he had had a good education to begin with and a stronger body, he might have accomplished more. One who knew him intimately says: "I am sure that in his prime he was a preacher far above the average; he was discreet and tactful, but always with the courage of his convictions. He was one of the most just and fair-minded people I ever saw, almost entirely free from prejudice and with no petty vanity or jealousy. I think I am impartial in writing this of him. I know that he had weaknesses; but whatever they were, he was fine-grained and high-minded. He rarely talked of the past. Unlike most old people, he seemed far more interested in the present and future. He spoke of himself and his experiences very little, but one knew by every word and act that his religion was the vital fact and experience for him." Mrs. Sue F. Mooney says: "His preaching was not sensational nor spectacular, but it was full of the vital element of spiritual power so characteristic of the pulpit of that day. The conditions of the new life were made plain and insisted upon, but in a spirit that assured the vilest sinner of sympathy and help." On February 1, 1855, he was happily married to Miss Eliza Graham, of McMinnville, where he was then serving his first term. Twice subsequently he was pastor at McMinnville and once presiding elder of McMinnville District. His wife was "in every way a help and inspiration to him, and I doubt if his work was ever quite the same after she left him. His temperament was one that required something of that kind. Home life and the affection of his family meant so much to him." His gentle comrade companied with him until 1873, and was laid to rest in a borrowed grave in Murfreesboro. Her death was a terrible blow to him. He kept tryst for her thirty-seven years, amid smiles and tears, and then we laid him to rest at her side in another borrowed tomb on May 31, 1910. When his body was borne to the church in Tullahoma, his pastor, Rev. B. T. Lannom, tells us that all the factories and stores were closed and the factory whistles and church bells of the town, with blast and stroke, numbered his eighty-four years, and a vast audience met in the church with tearful eyes and shining faces to bear tribute to the life that had gone from among them. It was a beautiful, a Spirit-filled life, and leaves us an aroma of saintly sweetness for years to come. These lines are less my own than those of others who knew him better, and whose modesty only withholds their names. The following list of appointments gives the official history of his life: Junior preacher, Dover Circuit, 1848-49; Center Circuit, Alabama, 1849-50; Waverly Circuit, 1850-51 (ordained deacon this year by Bishop Capers, Athens, Ala.); junior preacher, Mill Creek Circuit, 1851-52; Somerville Circuit, Alabama, 1852-53 (ordained elder by Bishop Andrew, at Pulaski); McMinnville Station, 1853-55; Lebanon Circuit, 1855-56; Smith's Fork Circuit, 1856-57; Pulaski Station, 1857-58; McMinnville District, 1858-60; McMinnville Station, 1860-62; Mount Vernon Circuit, 1862-66; McMinnville Station, 1866-67; Alexandria Circuit, 1867-71; Stone's River Circuit, 1871-73; Brentwood Station, 1873-75; Culleoka Station, 1875-76; Olivet and Pleasant Valley, 1876-77; Williamsport Circuit, 1877-80; Asbury Circuit, 1880-82; Fayetteville Station, 1882-84; Tullahoma and Manchester, 1884-86; superannuated 1886, but served Tullahoma 1891-92.
